

Seven Candidates Seek Nominations For Commissioner

Three File Petitions On Final Day

THE NUMBER of men seeking nomination as county commissioners rose to seven yesterday as two Republicans and one Democrat joined the fray.

The Republicans are likely to have the easier time of it so far as primaries are concerned. Incumbent Commissioners Amzi F. Altomose and W. Adolph Rake had their nominating petitions turned in late in the afternoon in the commissioners' office — less than an hour before the 4:30 deadline.

Barring a last-minute sticker or write-in campaign, they are faced with no competition on the Republican ticket — thus assuring them of places on the ballot in November.

Willard L. Quick, former county commissioner, was the Democratic petitioner — making the race on the Democratic ticket a five-way tug-of-war.

Running with Quick for a fourth time on the November ballot are John R. Lesoine, Tannersville truckman; Harold E. Albert, Stroud Township supervisor; Edward Doran, Stroudsburg councilman; and John Reinhardt, 10 Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg, retired.

Quick, who lives at 99 First St., Stroudsburg, a restaurant proprietor, was defeated four years ago by incumbents Altomose and Rake.

Granville Shiffer, the present Democratic county commissioner, did not seek renomination and election.

Under election laws, the board of three county commissioners must have one minority member. The names of the two men polling the most votes in each party will be put on the label in November. Voters will pick three out of the four names.

The fight shaping up in the Republican wing is over the post of register and recorder. Two candidates filed yesterday, bringing the total to three Republicans and two Democrats.

The new petitioners are Chief County Clerk Harry Taylor of Mount Pocono, and political novice Edward N. Post, W. Main St., Stroudsburg, lumber dealer.

The third Republican, who announced his intentions earlier, is George L. Smith, chief county assessor.

On the Democratic side, incumbent Floyd Butz will attempt to win over challenger Raymond A. Legar of East Stroudsburg RD3.

There were no new candidates for prothonotary; candidates will be James A. Gould of Effort, the incumbent, on the Republican row; and N. Henry Fenner, Hamilton Township school principal, on the Democratic side.

Sheriff Jacob F. Altomose will be opposed for reelection by Republican Victor H. Henning, 19 N. Tenth St., Stroudsburg, former deputy sheriff.

Former district attorney Detlef A. Hansen, a Democrat, will run against incumbent Elmer D. Christine, who until yesterday had not revealed that he would be a candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket.

Christine succeeded Hansen in office four years ago.

Only new note in the auditor's race was the petition filed yesterday by Doris D. Smith, East Stroudsburg RDI housewife, a Democrat. Running with her will be Mahlon Besecker, Democratic incumbent, and the two Republican incumbents, John W. Wernett and Mary Emma Teeter Garcia.

75,000 Idle In Strikes

By The Associated Press

About 50,000 telephone workers and 25,000 nonoperating railroad employees struck Monday and there were some reports of interruptions of service.

Southern Bell Telephone Co. employees in nine Southeastern states walked out after failure to agree on a new wage contract. The company said dial service was not affected materially but that there might be delays in long distance calls and local calls made through manual exchanges.

Train cancellations began to occur in the 4,737-mile system of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. and two subsidiaries operating in 13 Southern and Central states.

Representatives of the telephone company and the CIO Communications Workers Union were holding long sessions in an effort to reach a new contract on a "no strike" clause and wages, reported to be the main issues.

Two main cables leading into Birmingham, Ala., were cut. The company offered a $5,000 reward and alleged the cables were cut deliberately.

States affected by the telephone walkout included Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

In the rail strike, four trains operating out of New Orleans and three out of Evansville, Ind., were canceled. Freight service was reported collapsing at Nashville.

Stock Market Prices Drop $4 Billion

QUEEN Elizabeth II of Great Britain is shown as she left Clarence House, London, where she lunched with Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. The get-together was presumed to concern the romance of the Princess and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Hero Denies Princess Has Agreed To Wed

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—Princess Margaret may not have given Group Capt. Peter Townsend her final decision, but the impression remained in informed circles tonight she is all in favor of wedding bells this fall.

The 40-year-old war hero, air attaché at the British Embassy in Brussels, complained today a London Sunday newspaper report implied "The Princess has decided to marry me."

"The Princess has made no such decision known to me, nor have I any reason to believe she has made a decision," Townsend said in a prepared statement.

The group captain is being gallant, as any English gentleman would have to be in the circumstances, some people here were saying. They suggested he must leave the decision, and the announcement of it, to the Princess.

His statement today, it was presumed, was intended in part to clear up any misapprehension that he had said too much.

Foreign Aid To Be Cut To $3.5 Billion

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen said today the administration's requests for all foreign aid spending in the year beginning July 1 will be held to 3½ billion dollars. This compares with a total of $5,300,000,000 made available for the current year.

He said the amount to be asked for Asia would be less than he had been thinking of a few months ago, but declined to say how much less.

Stassen talked to reporters after telling President Eisenhower of what he found on a 30,000-mile, three-week tour of Asian countries.

He said he told the President that industrialization is needed to bolster Asia against communism. He also said the food supply there is better than in any time in the last 20 years but "that doesn't mean it is completely adequate."

The 3½ billion Stassen mentioned for the new fiscal year is the same total Eisenhower listed in his budget.

Senate Vote Due Today On Income Tax Bill; Johnson, Treasury Chief Trade Verbal Blows

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas locked horns with Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey over proposed income tax cuts today, declaring Congress will decide what to do without Humphrey's help.

"It looks to me like Mr. Humphrey is trying to be the best big business secretary of the Treasury since Andrew Mellon," Johnson rapped out at an informal news conference.

He was obviously angry with Humphrey for calling the Democratic tax reduction plan a "political quickie gimmick."

The Senate resumed debate on two tax reduction proposals today and may reach a showdown vote tomorrow. Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California

Big 5 Talks Being Sought By Churchill

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today he still is working for a Big Five meeting to ease world tension. That meeting, he suggested, should now include West Germany and France.

He disclosed also that last July he sought a personal meeting with former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov to "talk things over." Russia's call for an all-Europe security conference interrupted the effort, he said.

"I still believe," the Prime Minister asserted in a husky voice, "that vast and fearsome as the human scene has become, personal contacts of the right people in the right place at the right time might yet have a potent and valuable part to play in the cause of peace which is in all our hearts."

The 80-year-old Prime Minister was replying to a Laborite motion citing the terrors of the H-bomb and asking censure of the Churchill government for failure to arrange Big Five talks with the Russians on banning the weapon. Labor leader Clement Attlee opened the debate with a call for a halt in thermonuclear experiments on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The House of Commons voted down the Labor motion of censure 298 to 268. Laborites who had been split on the question of the H-bomb and defense appeared to have backed Attlee solidly on this vote.

Immediately afterwards, the Commons by a vote of 299 to 266 approved a Conservative amendment saying a Big Five meeting must await ratification of the Paris agreements rearming West Germany.

Churchill praised President Eisenhower and hinted he was nourishing a secret hope that Eisenhower shares Churchill's wish for a "right time" conference with Russia.

He warned against extravagant criticism of U.S. policies.

Emphasizing the urgency of a quick ratification of the London and Paris agreements on rearming Western Germany and bringing her into the Western defense against communism, Churchill continued:

Emphasizing the urgency of a full arrangement for coexistence with Russia, I should regard it as an act of insanity to drive the German people into the hands of the Kremlin and thus tilt into Communist tyranny the destinies of mankind.

Provo Freed Of Treason By Federal Judge

BALTIMORE, March 14 (AP)—John David Provo, facing a second trial on wartime treason charges, was set free today by a federal judge who ruled the 37-year-old former Army sergeant had been denied his constitutional rights to a speedy trial.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen dismissed the treason indictment and granted the one-time San Francisco bank clerk his freedom in a 32-page opinion, climaxing more than a month of hearings and deliberation.

Judge Thomsen said he found Provo could not "have a fair trial at this late date, that he has been denied the right of speedy trial within the meaning of the Sixth Amendment," and that there have been unnecessary and "deliberate" delays in indicting him and bringing him to trial.

Action On Race Bet Bill Put Off; Pechan Says Sponsors Lack Votes

HARRISBURG, March 14 (AP)—The Senate tonight put off action on a proposal to permit voters to decide on whether they favor legalized horse racing betting in Pennsylvania.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) interpreted the inaction to mean that backers of the measure lack the necessary votes.

"As far as I can see, there aren't enough votes for the measure," he told a newsman. "It's still in a state to flux. You can't say it's dead."

The bill was at the amendment stage on the Senate calendar and could have been advanced for a vote tomorrow.

The measure would place before the voters at the Nov. 8 election the question of whether they favor or legalize betting on horse racing in Pennsylvania.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, the Republican floor leader, commented on the present status of the referendum bill:

"Right now I wouldn't bet a nickel on it."

Mahany last week predicted the measure would pass the Senate with 30 votes. The reason for the switch, he said, was a Democratic proposal to advance the referendum to the May 17 primary election.

In the House the Democratic majority revived a once-defeated bill to permit the governor to succeed himself and voted 111-80 to send the measure to the Senate.

The proposed constitutional amendment failed to pass by nine votes last week, largely because of Democratic absenteeism. Chairman James S. Berger (R-Potter) called a meeting of the Senate Labor and Industry Committee for tomorrow to act on the administration's unemployment compensation plan.

Nationalists Sink 10 Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa, March 14 (AP)—Nationalist warplanes today scattered a Red flotilla in Amoy Bay, sinking 10 small warships, the Defense Ministry said.

Listed as sunk from a fleet of more than 50 warships were three 130-ton gunboats and seven armed motorized junks.

Whether this was an invasion fleet was not disclosed. If so, it probably was aimed at the Tan Islands 2½ miles south of Amoy rather than the heavily garrisoned Nationalist island of Quemoy.

Quemoy, across the strait from Formosa, commands the bay's waters leading to Amoy, now a dead port. The Tan Islands south of Quemoy are part of the stopper that coasts up the coast.

The offshore island front sprang to life after a two-day lull when patrol planes spotted the concentration.

Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group on Formosa, visited Quemoy earlier in the day and inspected its defenses. Another visitor was Brig. Gen. Harold W. Grant, who commands the U.S. air task force of Sabre Jets on Formosa.

A U. S. official said he would not be surprised if the Nationalists begin pulling women and children out of the Matsui Islands. This is the other major Nationalist offshore holding at the north of Formosa Strait.

Steps Taken To Prevent Oil Delivery

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Sen. McClelland (D-Ark.) said today "steps are being taken" to prevent the delivery of a Finnish tanker's cargo of jet plane fuel to Red China.

"I think there is some hope they will succeed," he added. McClelland, still critical of the administration's handling of the problem of trade between Western Allied nations and the Chinese Reds, made the statement after a conference with Harold E. Stassen, foreign aid director, and State and Navy department officials.

He declined to quote them in any way, but told reporters after his closed-door talk with the officials: "Steps are being taken . . . I am satisfied that some effort is being made to prevent this (jet fuel) oil from reaching Red China."

Bank Cashed $535,000 In Bad Checks

WHITESVILLE, Ky., March 14 (AP)—A federal bank liquidator, investigating the collapse of a small town bank, disclosed today that it obligingly cashed more than 2,000 worthless checks.

The checks, varying in size from $1 to $7,000, caused a shortage of $535,000.

This was more than half the deposits in the Bank of Whitesville, which closed last September. The deposits totaled $929,625.

How were the customers, over a period of four years, able to get money on so many checks when they didn't have sufficient funds on deposit?

Bernard Ware Barrett, the 51-year-old cashier, took full blame. "I had a habit of indulging our customers," he explained when the bank closed. "I thought they (the checks) would be made good, but they weren't."

Barrett added he didn't realize that the checks he was holding had piled up to such a fantastic sum. Altogether, 135 accounts were overdrawn.

One customer overdraw his account by $168,761. Another took out $159,613 which he didn't have on deposit.

Barrett is charged with misapplying bank funds and with making false entries, but he has been declared temporarily unfit mentally to stand trial. He said he did not profit from indulging his patrons so generously.

What about the persons who wrote the checks in this community of 750 residents?

Machinery has been set in motion to recover the money and to prosecute other persons.

Stock Setback Greatest Since Start Of Korean War In 1950

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—The stock market tumbled today to its heaviest day's loss in almost five years. In a continuation of last week's big fall, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $3.90 at $151.50.

This was the biggest daily drop since June 26, 1950, two days after the Communist invasion of South Korea.

The fall in the AP average indicated an approximate loss of about four billion dollars in the quoted value of all listed securities on the New York Stock Exchange.

Prices were hammered down in two big selling waves. Key issues declined from $1 to $6 a share in what brokers regarded as a hang-over from last week which was the worst weekly decline in 15 years.

Some typical losses: U. S. Gypsum, $6; DuPont, $4; Santa Fe, $4.50; Sears Roebuck, $3.75; United Aircraft, $3.37; Texas Co., $2.87; and Johns-Manville, $3.75.

It was one of the heaviest trading days of the year, with 4,220,000 shares changing hands. There were 1,270 issues traded, 88 advances and 1,074 declines. There were 25 new lows for 1954-55 and only five new highs.

The industrial component today was down $5.40, rails were off $3.50, and utilities retreated $1.30.

Pennsylvania Railroad was the day's most active issue off 1 at 26½ on $4.100 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was lower all around on volume of 1,140,000 shares.

George Refuses To Accept Copy Of Yalta Pact

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) today refused to accept a State Department record of the Yalta Big Three conference on a confidential basis.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which George heads, was scheduled to get three copies of the record but George said in his rejection:

"The information in these papers would leak out and I don't want to accept them and find myself in the position of having to make them public."

"If one-half of the things that have been rumored about them is true, I don't think any responsible person would want to make them public. There might be unfortunate political repercussions in the world especially on the European agreements which are in the process of being ratified."

Between them, the jurors have 13 children—some in the same age range as the 25-year-old defendant.

Fulbright has called it a "friendly study," but Capehart said that testimony given during public hearings "has had a tendency" to bring stock prices down.

Fulbright retorted that opinions given by "some of the best minds in the field" may have influenced the market.

Decline Linked To Senate's Market Study

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said today there could be a direct connection between the Senate Banking Committee's study of the stock market and today's major selling wave. The day's fall in prices was the biggest to hit the New York Stock Exchange in nearly five years.

Goldwater told the Senate he "wouldn't want to say" that the estimated four billion dollar aggregate drop in prices of all listed securities was a "direct result" of the study undertaken by the committee.

But he told the Senate in some times warm debate that "when a dark cloud passes over, sometimes there is rain."

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) asked Goldwater if he meant to imply that the committee, headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) "is deliberately trying to undermine" the stock market.

Goldwater said: "I am merely offering that as a suggestion."

The exchange followed an assertion by Gore that a dividend tax credit voted into last year's tax revision act had certainly aided the bull market of the past two years.

Goldwater asked Gore if the market had "boomed" since the Banking Committee study began two weeks ago. Goldwater said the market had "boomed off seven billion dollars" in recent days.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY.) said there was "no assurance that there has been a loss of capital of that amount" and that the market could bounce right up again.

That was Lehman's answer to Goldwater's assertion that the recent decline in stock prices was hitting the pocketbooks of stock owners.

Gore said that if the underlying stability of stock prices was so flimsy that the Banking Committee's study all by itself could have set off Goldwater's estimate of a seven-billion-dollar drop, then the seven billions were "synthetic values." That would reflect a sad state in the stock market, Gore said.

In today's Banking Committee hearing, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board said credit buying of stocks should not be ended entirely "unless you want to promote a lower standard of living."

This statement by William McMartin Jr. before the Senate Banking Committee seemingly ruled out for the present at least, any idea of putting the stock market on an all-cash basis. The Federal Reserve Board has authority to regulate credit on the market.

Some previous witnesses, contending there is too much speculative activity in the market, have suggested the elimination of credit or at least stiffer margin (cash) requirements.

Martin said there would be "just as much speculation" overall if the stock market were put on an all-cash basis.

An all-cash requirement, Martin contended, would merely divert money from the stock market into other speculative fields.

Martin, a former president of the New York Stock Exchange, the country's biggest, refused repeatedly to make any conjectures on whether the present 60 per cent margin, which was increased from 50 per cent in January, might be further increased.

All he could say on this, Martin told the committee, is that "as of today margins are 60 per cent. I won't say whether they might be changed tomorrow."

Martin gave his testimony as bickering increased between Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) over the purpose and course of the committee's inquiry into the rise in stock prices during the past 18 months.

Fulbright has called it a "friendly study," but Capehart said that testimony given during public hearings "has had a tendency" to bring stock prices down.

Fulbright retorted that opinions given by "some of the best minds in the field" may have influenced the market.

Nomination Sought By W. L. Quick

WILLARD L. Quick, 99 N. First St., Stroudsburg, a former county commissioner, said yesterday he will seek the Democratic nomination for commissioner at the May primaries.

A native of this area, Mr. Quick was formerly in the silk business in the Stroudsburgs. For many years he has been in the restaurant business, both in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

Mr. Quick's first venture in the field of public office was as Democratic councilman from Stroudsburg's First Ward. He served only two years, announced for Democratic nomination for Commissioner, and was elected then and to succeeding terms.

He recalled yesterday the county's bonded indebtedness was about $375,000 when he took office and in the next few years a $120,000 institution five per cent issue was called and paid and other large amounts of bonded indebtedness were similarly called and paid when due to cut bonded indebtedness down materially.

Mr. Quick pointed out that during his service as commissioner, the taxpayers enjoyed one of the lowest tax rates in many years—six mills.

The former commissioner also emphasized that during his terms as commissioner the boroughs and townships of the county "fared generously in gasoline tax allocations with very little of it being retained by the county."

Mr. Quick for years was active in sportsmen's circles, helping to create and head one of the region's first sportsmen's associations.

He is a member of a number of civic and fraternal organizations.

The Soviet government last week formally proposed to the U.S. State Department an exchange of American and Russian farm delegations.

The President visited the hospital twice last week for brief treatment. The White House said at that time he would make several more trips.

Spring And Winter Confusion

Here in the north temperate zone, we are now struggling through the toughest season of the year.

It's neither hide nor hair, fish nor fowl. We are caught betwixt and between winter and spring and it's a strong individual who can cope with same.

Start dreaming of warm days behind first base and the clatter of basketball and hockey scores come roaring over the radio.

Gaze upon the petunias and red ripe tomatoes in the seed catalogs and you end up with snow beating against the window, as it did several days ago.

Fix the lawnmower and before you get through you are out shoveling a path to the front walk.

Get set to whiff the gentle spring breezes, and wham!—a mad March wind roars out of the West, knocks into an Easter hat your hopes for sensible weather.

Jauntily set out in a new spring outfit and by night fall you have a galloping case of the sneezes.

Winter is okay if you like winter. Spring is dandy, too.

But we are about to withdraw our support from the weather man if he doesn't stop mixing them up.

The Intangible Buildup

In an era of international races to build more destructive weapons, there is some consolation in reflecting that military leaders on our side are not totally forgetful of the spiritual values that transcend any war.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway aptly chose that theme for an address read in his name at West Point last week.

The occasion was the presentation of a plaque to the Military Academy commemorating Jewish participation throughout the history of the nation's military service. Also marked was the fact that half of the Academy's first graduating class—consisting of two members, in 1892—was Jewish.

In tribute to this religious factor, General Ridgway noted that communism strives "to destroy belief in God and in divine guidance, without which there can be neither meaning nor purpose to human life." Therefore, he said, "we must ever strive to increase the intangible elements of our strength as well as the economic and military elements."

A few weeks ago General MacArthur, in his birthday speech calling for the abolition of war, said such an achievement would mark "the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount."

The prayerful hope of all the world's peoples, and all their religions, is for peace. Pressing toward that goal, in the face of powerful, evil forces that would destroy its idealism, the armament of highest priority is a spiritual faith.

We would be badly off if our military leaders were heedless of that enormous truth.

George Sokolsky Says...

Chinese Giant That Lay Asleep So Long Is Now Awake And Is Moving Very Fast

To the Sons of Han, what we call China is Chung Kuo, the Middle Kingdom, the center of the universe. To understand what is happening on the mainland of China and on the island of Formosa, in the Malay Peninsula and Indonesia where there are millions of Chinese, it is necessary to grasp the deep, abiding sense of superiority which is innate in the Chinese tradition.

Liang Chi-chao, who was one of the great intellects of the Revolution of 1911, once described China in these terms:

"The greatest country in the world, the five continents of the world, which is it? My country, the Middle State, the Flowery Land! The people who number one-third of the human race, who are they? My countrymen of the Middle State, the Flowery Land! Annals which extended back without a break for over four thousand years, of what country are these? Of my country, the Middle State, the Flowery Land! My country contains four hundred million inhabitants who all speak what is fundamentally the same language, and use the same script; of no other country can this be said. Her ancient books hand down events which have occurred during more than thirty centuries past; of no other country can this be said."

Then he added:

"... my country, the Middle State, the Flowery Land, stands proudly alone, having survived, in one unbroken line, ever increasing in size and brilliancy, down to the present day. And in the future it will spread into a myriad branches, to be fused together in one furnace. Ah, beautiful is my country! Ah, great are my countrymen! Now, ere inditing a rough outline of their story, I must purify myself thrice with perfume and the bath; then, looking up to heaven, with many prostrations, thank God that I was born in this lovely land, as one of the sons of this great people."

This concept of China is held by all Chinese, Nationalists, Communists and just plain people. It is held by the Chinese in Peking, Taipei, Jakarta, Hongkong and Singapore. Back in the days when foreign countries held concessions and settlements in China and collected the customs and the salt tax, Chinese would smile and say that it will not last long—that the day would come when those who enslaved their country would be driven into the sea. Chinese believe that what was once Chinese will be Chinese again; that a people who once were influenced by the culture of China will be so influenced again.

It is this profound sense of nationalism that is most fundamental among the Chinese and those who have ever believed that they could subordinate the Chinese people to their will must sooner or later realize that this enormous population, this vast accumulation of human beings, perhaps the most fecund of mankind, cannot be subdued. They have a way of restoring themselves as they have done a dozen times in their history.

Internal strife is not new or unusual for China and it takes on forms in that land which are hardly understandable to the Western mind, for while these revolutions change dynasties, they do not change China. The brilliant French scholar and traveler, the Abbe Hue, as early as 1854, recognized the revolutionary character of these people. He wrote:

"... This country has always been the classic ground of revolutions, and its annals are but the narrative of a long series of popular commotions and political vicissitudes. In the period of time between the year 420, when the Franks entered Gaul, and 1644, when Louis XIV ascended the throne of France, and the Tartars established themselves in Peking, a period of twelve hundred and twenty-four years, China underwent fifteen changes of dynasty, all accompanied by frightful civil wars."

It cannot be forecast that this will be the destiny of China during the next century. It is impossible for anyone to know what even the next ten years will bring, but this much is almost certain. The giant that lay asleep for so long is now awake and is moving fast.

It began to move with Sun Yat-sen's revolution; when Wu Pei-fu and Feng Yu-shiang sought to build a new China on ancient models; when Chiang Kai-shek sought to build a modern nationalist China; and now when Mao Tse-tung is applying the impetus of Marxism to a revolution that has become an imperialism.

It is with this that the Western mind needs to cope.

The Once Over

Moscow On New York

(In the manner of a new Russian encyclopedia's erroneous and grotesque description of the City of New York.)

New York is an eastern city in the capitalistic world. It is a teeming metropolis of 10,000,000 souls, where Jenny Lind once sang to Battery Park, the scene of the Haymarket Riots and the second Battle of Bull Run. It is bounded on the east by Alcatraz and on the west by Fulton Fish Market where the first steamboat, the Claremont Park was launched with the famous words "What hath God wrought?" It is governed by the Kuhn-Loeb, Morgan and Rockefeller interests who operate from the Brooklyn Bridge, formerly called McGowan's Pass. The city is made ugly by skyscrapers, a type of structure invented by Russia, but abandoned long ago. These are built so close together the workers in them live without air or light and are constant sufferers from elevator sickness, a malady imported by powerful bankers and the warmonger Dulles.

The tallest skyscraper is the Empire State, so-called because it is the empire center of the bezel belt. It was originally the Grand Union in lower Manhattan but was carried uptown by the blizzard of 1888, a Kuhn-Loeb operation. Other skyscrapers include the Chrysler Tower, named for the violinist, Jack Benny, in an abject surrender to frivolous elements; and the Rockefeller Center group, surrounding a hidden skating rink where the masses are poisoned by the false doctrine that happiness is obtainable only through ice shows. Not far away a section called Columbia Circle is being destroyed by atomic bomb tests to make room for a super Madison Square Garden which will house a 36-hole golf course for the imperialist Eisenhower, 40 squash courts for officers of the New York Stock Exchange and a nest of swimming pools for exploiters of the masses. Not far away is Central Park where workers are executed on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The great financial center is Wall Street which runs from Ebbets Field on one end to the hunting lodge of Bernard Baruch on the other and houses the stock exchange which is operated by Walter Winchell. It was formerly the Avenue of the Americas where Jenny Lind once sang following her triumphant tour of the Urals. Ferryboats carry the great crowds of unemployed from the old Vanderbilt Mansion on lower Broadway to Arthur Godfrey across the bay.

The old Aquarium built by the Tweeds and Crockers, but destroyed by Hurricane Edna, has been replaced by Roosevelt. The entire city is overpopulated by a mad people, most of whom are engaged in a conspiracy against the USSR. All vehicular traffic moves north and south by orders of the secret police, but the poor are purposely trapped in east and west streets where they are lost and abandoned to a fate worse than death. Night life is terrible. All art forms have been lost. Theater tickets are so high only Kuhn Loeb, Rockefeller and the Morgans see any good shows. The current hits are Hammerstein & Crouse's "East Lynne," and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" done by Cole Lindsay and a Theater Guild known as "Gus." All shows are performed underwater by a group called The Mariners. It is impossible to get red cabbage with sour cream in the lobbies between the cunts. Sleight is bad. Editors are allowed to say what they wish. People are allowed to express opinions freely. It is a very strange city.

It was to be expected that a Harvard professor put the market in the red, obviously not sparing the blue chips. "I can't imagine how any slump could have any connection whatsoever with this probe" — Senator Fulbright. Oh, come, a Rhodes scholar should be able to figure things out better than that.

Ima Dodo says she can't understand why the USA should be called upon to defend the Chinese Islands of Matsow and Harvey. Boris Karloff, making the broad jump from Frankenstein to King Arthur, says he doesn't believe he ever frightened the kiddies. We think this is so, basing our opinion on a scene we have previously mentioned in which we came upon a man introducing kids to a department store Santa some years back, noted his midwest with small fry and were amazed to discover that he was Karloff.

Temptation To Celebrate March 1 Is Placed Aside

Even the most ebullient political Pollyanna who ever sang "Happy Days Are Here Again" never went so far as to suggest that any of those happy days was a March 15th.

But this year it may be different, what with the one month's grace on income tax payments. I have been studying on what I would do on the evening of March 15 this year, and have derived a good deal of quiet satisfaction turning over the different possibilities for a well-rounded program. Many of them, though very tempting, were a little on the ostentatious side, but sober judgment gradually eliminated those in favor of a simple, straightforward routine that would do the job neatly without undue effection.

Barring unforeseen complications, here is what I plan to do:

6:00 p. m.—I shall arrive home just as on any past March 15—tired and beaten after a rough day at the mines and mumbing to myself what I really ought to have told that last bird who took up so much time on the telephone.

6:02 p. m.—Resolved to let nothing spoil this night-of-night, I shall cast off my cares, shout cheerful greetings and salutations to whom it may concern, and enter fully into the spirit of the dog's friendly welcome.

6:15 p. m.—I shall sit down in the easy chair facing the TV receiver, first turning off the news and substituting a soft, soothing phonograph record.

6:30 p. m.—I shall eat a good dinner, as much as I want, with no thought of calories.

7:15 p. m.—I shall issue an APB that I'm not to be disturbed, then loosen my collar, take off my shoes, sit down in the easy chair and doze off.

8:15 p. m.—Awaking refreshed, I shall ask my wife what she did with the receipts on all those 1954 doctor bills, then quickly say, "Oh, never mind."

8:20 p. m.—I shall get me some nice apples and a big pan of well-buttered popcorn and settle down to browse at random through an old volume of Leacock or Benchley.

11:30 p. m.—I shall put the book aside and write a postcard to Mr. T. Coleman Andrews, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, saying, "Having a wonderful time. Glad you are there."

11:40 p. m.—I shall drive to the post office, mail the card, and begin counting, "Zero minus 10, zero minus nine, etc."

11:45 p. m.—I shall take a piece of chalk and scribble "Nyah!" over the outgoing mail slot.

12 midnight.—I shall have a deep sigh of relief, just for old times' sake. Then I'll go home and go to bed, hoping not to dream about that upcoming April 15 tax deadline.

Any difficulty on that last score I plan to overcome by reciting over and over until unconscious: "Subtract line two from line one. Enter difference here."

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

A dignified lawyer took his wife to Europe to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Neither had been abroad before, but a more worldly junior partner volunteered to make their Paris visit a breeze. "I know the manager of the finest hotel there," he assured them. "I'll write that you're coming."

He did, too. "This gentleman has done a lot for me," is what he dictated, "so I want to be sure that you give him the best of everything: corner suite, room service, etc., etc., etc."

The manager himself greeted the lawyer and, though he seemed surprised to meet the wife, shrugged his shoulders and conducted the couple to their suite. Everything was lovely—including three young ladies, daintily clad, who sat in a row in the sitting room.

"Who are they?" gasped the lawyer. "Ah, monsieur," the manager assured him. "It is as your friend requested: The three et ceteras!"

Official action on that will be started this week.

Ambassadors of the 16 allies which fought this Communist aggression will hold a special meeting in the State Department to formally approve a British and French proposal.

Under this plan, the anti-Red powers will recommend that the UN General Assembly adopt the report of Sweden and Switzerland, the two neutral members of the Commission, that it be abolished because "The armistice supervisory machinery provides no effective check on the military buildup behind North Korean lines."

The Swedish-Swiss report cites scores of flagrant Communist violations of explicit cease-fire terms.

While highly critical of these Red violations, the report does not pinpoint the basic cause of the Supervisory Commission's ineffectualness. That is due wholly to the persistent obstructionism of the two satellite members — Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Throughout the Commission's existence, the two Communist stooges have thwarted and blocked every attempt to enforce the armistice. While accorded unrestricted scope in South Korea, the two satellites have sabotaged all efforts by the other Commission members to obtain similar freedom of inspection and enforcement in Red-ruled North Korea.

The allies determined to discard the Commission in a series of informal discussions.

At first, some of the countries urged various palliatives. But such compromises were dropped when Sweden and Switzerland filed their caustic report and the U. S. presented a lot of equally shocking evidence of its own. All of this material will accompany the recommendation to the General Assembly that the Supervisory Commission be abolished.

Foremost among U. S. evidence are recently-taken photographs of more than 100 MIG-15 jet fighters on North Korean airfields, one of them a short flight from Seoul, capital of South Korea. These Russian planes are directly contrary to the armistice agreement which prohibits "the introduction of reinforcing combat aircraft, armored vehicles, weapons, munitions and forces."

As reported in this column on March 4, General Maxwell Taylor has warned the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the lawless Communist buildup is creating an ominous military situation in Korea.

Because the U. S., meticulously observing the truce terms, has withheld new equipment from the ROK army, its weapons were markedly inferior to the Communists'. This is critically undermining the combat effectiveness of the ROKs. Taylor is vigorously urging that all restrictions be removed on giving them new arms, including jet planes.

The Joint Chiefs propose doing that as soon as the Supervisory Commission has been officially repudiated by the UN.

Note: On July 27, 1953, the 16 allies signed a joint declaration, in connection with the armistice, which stated in part: "The task ahead is not an easy one. We affirm, in the interest of world peace, that if there is a renewal of armed attack, challenging again the principles of the United Nations, we should again be united and prompt to resist. The consequences of such a breach of the armistice would be so grave that, in all probability, it would not be possible to confine hostilities within the frontiers of Korea."

Pro and Con—Two well-known attorneys had a hot legal argument, at a closed meeting of Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but the discussion produced little information.

The debaters were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, former senior member of one of the biggest law firms in New York City, and Senator Wayne Morse (D., Ore.), one-time law professor and a justice of his state's Supreme Court.

Their clash grew out of Dulles' statement that he favored the U. S. defending Quemoy and Matsu Islands.

"On what legal grounds do you base your contention that the U. S. has the right to intervene in the defense of these islands off the coast of the Chinese mainland?" demanded Morse.

"On the ground that a sovereign power, the government of Nationalist China, has asked the U. S. for military help to defend those islands," replied Dulles.

"That's no legal basis," retorted Morse. "You know that, You're a lawyer with experience in international law, and you know perfectly well that contention would have absolutely no standing in an international court."

"I don't know that at all," snapped Dulles. "That's just your opinion."

"Well, it is not an opinion," continued Morse. "that your recommendation to the President would involve us in an Asiatic civil war."

"It is not a civil war," insisted Dulles.

"That's what you say," snorted Morse. "But as far as the fighting for those offshore islands is concerned, it is most certainly a civil war. That ought to be obvious to you as a lawyer."

"It is not a civil war," argued Dulles. "for the reason that the Nationalists do not recognize the Communists as representatives of any of the major elements of China. The Communist leaders do not represent the Chinese people, they represent a foreign invader."

"Yes, it is," declared Dulles.

"Well, it wouldn't hold water in any international court," said Morse.

"I think it would," replied Dulles.

And that ended the argument. "And that is your legal ground?" asked Morse.

On Broadway

Mr. and Mrs. United States: This is to discuss the raging controversy (concerning me) before Senator Fulbright's Committee now studying Wall Street and the stock market. . . . Considering the violent criticism of Senator Fulbright's party of Senator McCarthy's ethics, methods and tactics, I expected to be the 2nd (or 10th) witness since I was the first to be wrongly accused—to answer the opinions (misreported as charges) with my side of the story. . . . This would be it: Senator, I respectfully ask you: How many shares of stock (and in what companies) are held or owned by Senators and Congressmen? Aside from showing their confidence (in the market), the Acts of Congress have a deep effect on the values. So the information is of great interest to the American public.

Now, isn't it strange that the same party—which accused the Eisenhower Administration a year ago—of creating a non-existent depression—should reverse itself—and now declare that there is a dangerous prosperity?

Instead of inquiring into why the market went up—wouldn't it be fairer to inquire why Mr. Adlai Stevenson said the economy was going down? Senator, why not define what a stock tip is? I maintain that a tip is private information for private use. . . . A public broadcast of advance news (on an estimated 25 or more million listeners) couldn't be a tip. . . . Because everyone listening—knows that everyone else—has the same information.

Though I was blamed for the fall of Amurex Oil stock (in 1953) the chief of the American Exchange in N. Y. City (Mr. McCormick) testified before your committee—that his own investigation showed I had told the public the truth—and that the denial (next morning by the firm) was untrue. . . . Incidentally, Time Magazine's business section this week used the story that Amurex investors lost a fortune on my advance news—but did not publish the fact I was defended as reporting the truth by Mr. McCormick.

Senator Fulbright, why have you not summoned (or invited) the officials of that oil firm? To explain why they issued an untrue statement—which apparently cost investors over $2,000,000 in one hour? . . . Why blame that on me? I gave the public the facts. . . . Also, why hasn't the Stock Exchange reprimanded that firm for misleading the public?

Turkey Producers Dilemma

—by H. G. Heller

PENNSYLVANIA "turkey producers may be saddled with unfavorable market prices again this year despite efforts to cut their production to meet demand."

Though the commonwealth's turkey growers have announced plans to cut production by about 15 per cent, the picture across the rest of the nation indicates other major turkey producing states are making little appreciable effort to curb output.

The problem came to a head with a warning by the U. S. Agriculture Dept. that it is urgent that turkey producers "reconsider" their production plans for the year.

In the face of unsatisfactory prices and heavy production in 1954, the USDA reports that all indications point to production that could match last year's record output—and prices would be as low.

The Northeastern Poultry Producers' Council, representing Pennsylvania among other states, declared there is "potential danger of another bumper crop" in spite of the state's effort.

The USDA reported that national averages indicate five per cent more heavy breed turkey hens were being kept on farms in the early months of this year than last year.

At the same time, 11 per cent more heavy breed hens were tested for inclusion in production flocks.

Producers of light breed turkeys have cut back their production but the larger birds would balance the cutback. The overall result will be a tonnage production about the same as last year.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania turkey prices will be ruled by the national marketing situation.

The commonwealth's heavy breed growers plan to cut production by five per cent. The light breed producers have announced a planned 25 per cent cut.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Just as some long-anticipated event sometimes turns out to be pretty dreary, just so some days that look a little drab in prospect turn out to be very exciting by way of news.

You take one look at a page lay-out full of nothing but white spaces for you to fill and then you start digging out the fashion cuts you're sure you'll need. Then the phone starts ringing and the stories you hadn't anticipated come pouring in. One by one the fashion cuts come out and by the deadline you're wishing for elastic pages to stretch big enough to hold all the stories.

Of course I knew about the Woman's Club speaker, and she was just as spell-binding as I knew she'd be. It's like listening to a hive of bees. You can always tell whether a speaker has won the crowd by the sound of the chatter around the tea table afterwards. If it's a subdued hum, the speaker or his topic was dull. If it rises in sort of an angry whine, you know, at least, that he's stirred them up over something controversial.

If however, like yesterday, it's a busy buzzing with everybody adding her own little zozm, then you know the speaker has had some homey words to say.

As I say, I knew about that. But I didn't anticipate the story from the Tri-Hi-Y girls or how excited they'd be about their experiences, nor the good news about Arlene Bailey—remember her?

And certainly not the story about the farewell party for Ruth Shook. There you're torn between feeling happy for her and sorry for all the children of Smithfield Township who will never feel her warm personal interest or be part of the group making music with her.

Local Tri-Hi-Y Delegates At Model UN

Four girls, representing the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Tri-Hi-Ys, spent the weekend in Harrisburg, attending the mock United Nations Assembly with girls from all over the state.

The Assembly follows the pattern of the real UN, with each delegate assigned to represent a specific country. Judy Powell and Tanya Schaller of the Stroudsburg Tri-Hi-Y and Louise Wiggins and Bernice Krehhafer, of the East Stroudsburg Tri-Hi-Y, all had been assigned to represent Syria.

Since Syria has no immediate problem, they had no propositions to lay before the Assembly. However they took part in the discussion and voting on many other problems presented by other countries. Most hotly contested was the proposal to admit Red China to the United Nations.

In addition to their part in the model Assembly, the girls were taken on a tour of the capitol buildings and other points of interest at Harrisburg.

Frank Miller Has Guided Steady Growth

SOME 55 YEARS ago this week a small retail furniture store opened for business on North Ninth St., Stroudsburg. It marked the beginning of one of the most progressive and fast-growing enterprises in this area.

Begun by the late Ambrose C. Miller, the store has grown into one of the largest retail furniture outlets in this section.

The furniture business flourished from the beginning for A. C. Miller and after several years the store was moved to the corner of Main and Fourth Sts., Stroudsburg.

Under the guiding hand of Frank Miller, who assumed ownership of the business in 1941 after his uncle's death, the store facilities were greatly expanded and the business continued to grow.

Today the A. C. Miller store occupies approximately 19,000 square feet of floor space and has 600 square feet of window display area. To keep such a business in operation and keep abreast of demands for all types of merchandise, some 6,500 square feet of warehouse space is used.

The store's advertising slogan is "There's Something New Every Day." The daily influx of new merchandise and home delivery service keep the A. C. Miller staff constantly on the go. Many lines of merchandise are only on display a short while before they're taken off the floor for delivery. This type of rapid turnover always assures the customer of fresh, new merchandise and better choice.

A. C. Miller carries a complete line of furniture for kitchen, nursery, living room, dining room, bedroom and den. And right now you can see all the latest types of outdoor and summer furniture.

Other departments include bed ding, chinaware, small appliances, luggage, lamps and toys. Throughout the store you'll find nationally famous and nationally advertised brand names. The list of these popular names, each representing a customer-approved product, is too numerous to mention.

Visit A. C. Miller's and browse through the many departments ... you'll find this modern furniture store a homemaker's dream.

Refinish Window Shade To Match Room Colors

WINDOW SHADES, which are still in good condition, may be refinished in colors to harmonize with the room in which they are to be used. Unroll the shades and lay them flat on the floor, after it has been covered with clean papers. Dust the shades, then apply interior flat paint with a wide, soft brush, flowing the paint on generously. When thoroughly dry, turn the shade over and refinish the other side.

FOUNTAIN HILL, runnerup in the Lehigh-Northampton League basketball race, received a big break as far as the post-season class. "B" Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association is concerned. The Hillers won the District 11 crown and then drew a bye directly into the regional finals which will be played on Friday. The Hillers, coached by Charley Dubbs, will tangle with either Donegal Joint or Unionville. Donegal won the District Three crown and Unionville the District One title.

Stroudsburg High School opened basketball practice yesterday. The initial drill was little more than a call for candidates. Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, was back at his Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security Office yesterday after recovering from recent surgery and a bout with virus. Jerry Palala, successful basketball coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is also a highly regarded basketball umpire and will be available for area games this season.

Once again the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Conference pulled a beauty. Charley German, ESSTC, and Jim Parker, Cheyney, were named to the second all-conference team after winning honorable mention on the all-state squad. If Parker and German are good enough to threaten men like Tom Gola, Jesse Arnette, Maurice Stokes and others for top honors in the entire state, they certainly are good enough to win first team berths in the conference.

I sincerely don't believe there are any better performers in the conference than German or Parker. Ray Kaseman, ESSTC, certainly deserves a better fate than honorable mention in the conference. Kaseman ranks with the best of the state teachers can hand out and should have received nothing less than a second team berth. It is this writer's opinion that the conference takes on a rather ridiculous aspect when men like German, and Parker, the one from Cheyney, can't make the first team.

The Varsity "S" Club plans to hold the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament this year, probably during the first week in April. The club almost has to wait until three tournaments in surrounding areas come to a close. The area tournaments have attracted teams and players from Monroe County. It would also be better to wait until the Pocono Mountains League finishes its campaign at the end of the month. The first week in April is good because there is usually nothing doing at this time. The regular court campaign is over, but the baseball season is still a couple weeks away.

A total of 31 teams, the largest number in history, are entered in the Brooks Memorial Basketball Tournament in Scranton. The Daily Record saw action in the first round against General Electric last night. The Brooks tournament features such outstanding players as German, Kaseman and Nick Gatto from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and Joe Pitt and Bob Bessior from the University of Scranton.

Jim Oravee, Palmerton's brilliant center, finished the season with 450 points. Oravee was one of the outstanding players on the court last Friday night as Allentown won the District 11 class "A" basketball crown with a 69-57 decision over the Bombers at Hershey's Arena. Each team reportedly earned $1,400 for its labors at Hershey. The crowd was listed at 7,247, approximately one thousand more than watched Slatington win the District 11 crown from St. Clair a year previously.

Stan Dudas, popular assistant golf pro at Shannock-on-Delaware, is featured in a picture in the latest issue of Sports Illustrated. Tom Waring, who last Thursday gave the ESSTC basketball squad a dinner, helped an athlete over a rough spot the other day—and this athlete will remember the kind deed for a long, long time. Norman Friend, former ESSTC football star, is basketball coach at Nesquehock High.

Local basketball players who have signed to play with more than one team are being caught in the pinch. Often two teams, featuring one or more of the same players on the roster, are scheduled to play in two or more tournaments on the same night. Guy "Cup" Possinger, German and Kaseman are included in this group.

Poconos Dump Barrett To Maintain Perfect Record

Shiffermen Keep Hold On Top Spot

STROUDSBURG'S high flying Poconos breezed to their eighth straight triumph of the second half race in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League last night with a 100-54 verdict over Barrett. The game was played on the Stroudsburg High School court.

Barrett made the Poconos hustle during the first period, but after that mark the home town charges of Coach Tom Shiffer ran away with the contest, even though Greene-Dreher's Henry "Hank" Olsommer tallied 23 points for Barrett.

The Poconos held a slim 18-14 advantage at the end of the first 10 minutes and then vaulted into a 45-19 lead at the halfway mark, on the strength of a 27-5 showing in the second quarter.

Stroudsburg came up with 27 more points in the third stanza, while Barrett was scoring 15. The Poconos enjoyed a 72-34 advantage entering the final round and made certain of victory with a 28-20 bulge in the fourth stanza.

The Shiffermen held a wide 47-21 advantage in field goals and converted six of 12 charity tosses. Barrett found the range on 12 of 17 free throws.

Six of the seven Poconos who saw action in the game tallied in double figures, with Henry "Hank" Stetler leading the way with 26 markers. Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman and "Big John" Possinger were next in line with 18 and 16 tallies respectively.

U.S. Makes Near Sweep

MEXICO CITY, March 14 (AP)—Two U. S. soldiers leaped more than 26 feet in the broad jump and their teammates won three other track and field championships today as the United States made a near sweep of honors in the Pan-American Games.

Roselyn Range, an Army private from Los Angeles, won the broad jump with a mighty leap of 26 feet 4 1/2 inches—one of the greatest in track history—and he was closely pressed by Ann Bennett, former Milwaukee University star, with 26-5 1/2.

Only the great Jesse Owens, star of the 1936 Olympic games, and Willie Steele have done better than Range. Owens' leap of 26 feet 8 1/2 inches, made at Ann Arbor, Mich., May 25, 1935, still stands as the world record.

In a star-spangled performance which shot the U. S. far in front of Argentina for team honors, the North Americans today also came through with these performances:

1. Josh Culbreth won the 400 meter hurdles in 51.5 seconds, just 1.1 seconds off the listed world mark held by Russia's Yuri Litayev and 1.9 seconds better than the Pan-American record set by Colombia's Jaime Aparicio in 1951.

2. Parry O'Brien, the former Southern California star and world record holder, led a 1-2-3 North American sweep in the shot put with a toss of 57 feet, 8 1/2 inches, also a Games' mark. Fortune Gordien of Los Angeles and Martin Engel of New York followed him in order.

3. Rod Richards, former UCLA sprinter now a lieutenant in the U. S. Army, won the 100 meter dash in 10.3 seconds, tying the games' record. Mike Agostini, the Fresno state student who runs for Trinidad, was second and Willie Williams of Illinois was third.

Daily Record Eliminated From Brooks Basketball Tourney

SCRANTON—Undeclared General Electric eliminated The Daily Record bright and early in the Brooks Memorial Basketball Tournament here at the Scranton YMCA last night, 54-40.

The Stroudsburg contingent was unable to cope with the powerful General Electric club after the first period, even though Dick Little tallied 13 counters.

General Electric led 16-12 at the end of the first quarter and the Scranton club went on to assume its victory margin in the next two stanzas.

The Daily Record finished on the short end of a 14-8 count in the second quarter and General Electric dominated the third quarter, 11-7. The Record trailed 39-20 at the halfway mark.

Both squads picked up 13 points in the home stretch, but General Electric had the verdict well in hand at this point.

Tom Wilford and Jim Calpin paced the winning attack with 14 and 13 counters respectively.

Other tournament results last night featured Leader's Store in a 77-70 nod over the Gridiron, while Joe's Men's Shop of Dunmore took the measure of the Dunmore Wildcats, 64-42.

Mantle Leads Yankees To Win

BRADENTON, Fla., March 14 (AP)—Mickey Mantle snapped out of a hitting slump with a grand slam homer and three other hits today as the New York Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Braves 12-11 for their first grapefruit league victory in five attempts.

Mantle, hitless in 12 times at bat previously, drove in six runs, and shared hitting honors with Milwaukee's Joe Adcock who also drove in six runs. Adcock twice homered with two aboard.

Additional TV appearances for a particular school can develop under these provisions of the 1955 plan:

1. Sell-out games may be telecast in the home TV areas of the home and visiting teams (also the game's area if played off-campus).

2. A team playing more than 400 miles from home may telecast back to its "home TV market area," barring conflict with other games in the area.

3. Rod Richards, former UCLA sprinter now a lieutenant in the U. S. Army, won the 100 meter dash in 10.3 seconds, tying the games' record. Mike Agostini, the Fresno state student who runs for Trinidad, was second and Willie Williams of Illinois was third.

Lunch Held For Junior High Cagers

A TOTAL OF 50 members of the American League, one of two basketball circuits operating in the Stroudsburg Junior High School intra-mural program this season, held a special luncheon marking the close of the campaign yesterday.

The luncheon was held in the high school home economics room at noon.

Earl F. Groner, superintendent of Stroudsburg schools, spoke briefly to the group, pointing out the importance of good sportsmanship and the value of a league in which the players campaigned this season.

Mahlon Serfass and members of his Harvard team, league champion, took home, Serfass also delivered the invocation.

Coaches of other teams in the league were also guests at the luncheon.

The affair was made possible through the cooperation of various business people who donated the food.

Garcia Stops Brooks In Four

BROOKLYN, March 14 (AP)—Rudy Garcia, a crouching, probing little puncher from Los Angeles, stopped Nate Brooks of Cleveland in 1:31 of the fourth round of their scheduled 10 round fight at Eastern Parkway Arena tonight when the former Olympic bantamweight champion went down for the third time in the round. Garcia weighed 126 1/2.

Garcia stalked his prey from the opening bell of the first round and Brooks, a 1952 Olympic champion in Helsinki, could get hardly a blow in. Although this was Brooks' fourth consecutive loss, it was the first time in 29 professional fights he has been stopped. This also was his first start in the featherweight division.

Brooks, a pre-law junior at Ohio State University, was not disposed to give up and popped up after each knockdown. He wound up with a bad cut over the left eye that will require a half dozen stitches.

Phillies Tame Pirates, 3-2

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 14 (AP)—An error, a single and a double in the 12th inning gave the Philadelphia Phillies the run they needed to snap a tie and take an exhibition game from the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 today.

With two out in the 12th, the Phils' Gus Niarhos rapped a grounder which shortstop Gair Allie booted. Niarhos advanced to second on a single by Jim Westlake and scored when the next batter, Bobby Morgan, socked a double.

Coplay Tops North Coventry In Playoff

SLATINGTON—Coplay High, Lehigh-Northampton League champion, took another step toward the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association class "C" championship last night, but had to battle right down to the final buzzer before sidetracking North Coventry, 58-56, before a packed house here at Smith Hall.

Coplay's win was its 24th of the current campaign, while North Coventry, District One title holder, now has a mark of 16-6. North Coventry finished in second place in the Perkiomen-Schuylkill League with a record of 10 victories and two defeats.

The Lehigh-Northampton League kind used a strong team game last night to dump Coventry as the District 11 title holder came from far behind in the final eight minutes of play to decide the issue.

Coplay led 12-11 at the end of the first period and 29-23 at halftime, only to have North Coventry display its best scoring ability of the game in the third round and assume a 41-37 lead going into the last quarter. North Coventry dominated the third quarter, 18-8.

Charley McGinley and Nick Radon brought Coplay from behind with a burst of scoring in the last quarter and the Lehigh-Northampton League champion burst into the lead just before the final whistle and battled off a desperate North Coventry to earn its biggest victory of the current campaign.

McGinley tallied 20 points in a winning cause and received a big assist from Radon's 13 markers. Russ Biehl and Ron Domin combined for 39 of the losing points, 20 by the former and 19 by the latter.

North Coventry actually outscored Coplay from the field, 21-20, but canned 18 of 33 foul shots to earn the verdict. North Coventry converted 14 of 24 free throws.

Avila Turns Down Offer

TUCSON, Ariz., March 14 (AP)—Second baseman Bobby Avila, the Cleveland Indians' last holdout, left by plane today for his home in Mexico after refusing the Indians' latest salary offer.

Avila was offered $27,500 today, but he wants $32,000. He got $18,000 last year, but figures he's due for a big raise after leading the American League in batting with a .341 average.

After turning down the final offer made by Traveling Secretary Spud Goldstein, Avila left for his home in Vera Cruz. He said he's waiting for a call from General Manager Hank Greenberg.

If no call comes, "I go look for some business. I have something in mind. But, really, I want to play ball," said Avila.

Greenberg, after four conferences with Avila, flew back to Cleveland last night.

Manager Al Lopez said he would have to assume Avila won't be in the opening lineup. "That gives Rudy Regalado a good shot at the job and we also have Eddie Joost and Sam Dente who could go for it," Lopez said.

Gray's Quintet Wins Over Dinermen

TANNERSVILLE—Gray's Chevrolet fought off a desperate finish by Johnson's Diner here on the Pocono High court last night to score a 67-64 victory in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League.

Gray's five held an 18-point lead with six minutes to play, but the Dinermen finished strong to cut their disadvantage to one point with one minute still on the clock. Gray's club picked up a field goal in the fading seconds to gain the verdict.

A weak third period proved fatal to the Dinermen, as Gray's cagers came up with a 24-7 scoring advantage at that time and assumed a 56-42 lead entering the last quarter.

Gray's club led at the end of the first quarter, 18-17, but Johnson's Diner, a team that had defeated Gray's on two of three previous occasions, took over the lead at halftime with an 18-14 advantage in the second stanza. The Dinermen opened the second half with a 35-32 lead.

Both teams picked up 29 field goals, but Gray's club won by canning nine of 21 free throws. The Dinermen converted six of 11 charity tosses.

Penn Wins Midget League Crown, 33-21

CANADENSIS — Penn won the Barrett Midget Basketball League championship last night by scoring a 33-21 verdict over Temple, here on the Barrett High court.

The special season-ending playoff was made necessary when the two clubs tied for first place on the final date with four victories and one defeat.

Billy Manos led Penn to its most important victory of the current campaign when he tallied 16 points on six goals from the floor and four from the foul line. Larry Wile's eight tallies for Temple failed to turn the tide of battle.

Penn held the upper hand throughout the ball game, even though both teams came up with eight tallies in the third round.

The winning contingent was in front at halftime by a 17-11 count.

Archers To Hold Meeting

GROWING enthusiasm in the comparative new sport of archery in the twin-borough area calls for a round-up of all enthusiasts of the "lemon-wood" and Port Orford cedar adherents to consolidate isolated efforts and form an organized group of bowmen. David L. Miller of 420 Normal St., East Stroudsburg, who is serving as chairman of the Monroe County Cancer Appeal, is also serving as temporary chairman of the bowmen. He has called a meeting to be held in Room 16 of the East Stroudsburg High School on N. Courtland St. on Friday at 8 p.m.

Miller stated last night that Edward Pines Archery Club will be the guest speaker. He also intimated that there is a possibility that Al Brice, State Archery Champion from Weatherly, Pa., may also attend this initial meeting.

Each archer is asked to bring his "tackle" with him to Friday meeting.

Drum Corps To Complete At Bangor

BANGOR—Five or six state and national champion drum and bugle corps will enter the Class A competition of drum and bugle corps contest to be held at the Bangor Memorial Park on Saturday, July 23, officials said yesterday.

The venture is being sponsored cooperatively by Bangor's three fire companies, Rescue, Liberty and Second Ward and the Emlyn H. Evans American Legion Post.

The corps will be selected by the Eastern Drum Corps Circuit. It was announced that the cost of having them appear would be approximately $2000. The sponsors expect to raise the money through the sale of programs.

Serving on the committee of arrangements are John Correll, John Linabery, Thomas Naylor of the Rescue Fire Co., Russell Reagle, Russell Brown Jr. and Jay Albert, Second Ward, and William Holland, Troy Reagle and Gilmore Strunk, Liberty Fire Co.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Action Put Off On Race Betting Bill

Berger made it plain in a Senate speech that Republicans favored boosting the present maximum weekly benefit rate from $30 to $35 but opposed a host of fringe benefits involving vacation pay and similar items.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, took the position that the so-called fringe benefits were necessary and should be retained in the House-passed measure by the committee.

The bill also calls for eliminating the peril point formula from one law. Unless this is done by March 31, there will be an automatic drop in jobless benefits and an increase in employer payroll taxes.

Both Republicans and Democrats favor removal of this formula.

As the Senate formally put off action on the referendum plan until later in the week, Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro (D-Phila.) opened a new attack on a churchman opposing the measure.

DiSilvestro shouted from the floor that the Rev. Melvin M. Forney, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Pennsylvania, was "a disgrace to the fine people of Pennsylvania and to the fine people of the ministry."

"I say . . . get rid of him, because he makes more enemies than friends and he does not know how to conduct himself in the American way," DiSilvestro declared.

DiSilvestro recalled a telephone call he received from the Rev. Mr. Forney last month in which he quoted the minister as saying to him "I'll get you."

Although the minister denied he made any threats to DiSilvestro, the senator repeated the statement on the floor and then asked: "If there were racketeers in that room, I'm fearful of my life."

DiSilvestro referred to a hotel room in New York from where he said the Rev. Mr. Forney made the call.

Then, DiSilvestro continued: "If there were honest gentlemen there, I'm not fearful."

DiSilvestro was almost livid in raising his voice to the Senate rafters. There was no response from any of his colleagues.

Forney was not immediately available for comment.

Meanwhile, DiSilvestro and another co-sponsor, Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R-Delaware), were detected at the new turn of events.

Before the Senate met, Forney termed paributual wagering on races as "sin for taxes."

"We contend horse racing breeds crimes," he said in a pamphlet delivered on desks of the senators.

On the investigation front, a Senate-House committee decided to make an on-the-spot inspection of the Laurelton State Village on Wednesday before starting an investigation into its operations.

The committee will hold public hearings here on March 23 and 24 on charges by Harry Shapiro, secretary of welfare, of mistreatment of patients at the Union County institution for mentally deficient women.
